

Dutchess Outreach Seventh Annual Brunch

Our Seventh Annual Brunch was held at The Grandview in Poughkeepsie on Sunday, October 6, 2013. Over 170 attendees enjoyed a delicious brunch, raffles, door prizes, and silent and live auctions.

Charles S. North, President and CEO of the Dutchess County Regional Chamber of Commerce, was the Master of Ceremonies for the seventh year in a row. Because of the generosity of many community sponsorships, donations and advertisements, we were once again able to surpass our fundraising goal of $30,000 for Dutchess Outreach's programs.

Peter Berbec of Domino's Pizza, Vassar Temple, and Ulster Savings Bank were recognized for their extraordinary commitment to the work of Dutchess Outreach.

Honoring Our Volunteers

This year's Volunteer Recognition Reception, sponsored by the Orange County Trust Company and Theresa & Robert Dryfoos, was held at the Henry A. Wallace Center at the FDR Presidential Library and Home to recognize and thank the generous efforts of Dutchess Outreach volunteers.

Karl DeKeukelaere received the Mary Keeley Award.

Brian presented a Community Service Award to Boy Scout Troop 182 at the Volunteer Recognition.

Karl has volunteered with the Dutchess Outreach Coat Drive for many years. He also delivers for the GIFTS Program, is the volunteer manager of the Spring Food Appeal and the Postal Workers Food Drive and currently is Vice Chair of the Board of Directors.

The Susan DeKeukelaere Caring Heart Award was presented to Chessa Brolasch and Barbara DiStefano. For the past two years, Chessa has asked friends and family to donate food to the Beverly Closs Food Pantry for her birthday instead of giving her presents. Barbara was unable to volunteer for eight weeks due to health reasons, but that didn't stop her; she is back volunteering every Thursday at her old station in the Lunch Box!

Meher Dusi and Sadduarth Marthi were recognized with the Outstanding Youth Award. Both of these young men have volunteered in the Lunch Box for ten years, since they were in the fourth grade.

Community Service Awards were presented to Arlington School District/Schools, Boy Scout Troop 182, Church of the Messiah, Congregation Shir Chadash, Helen Schweitzer Realty, Pleasant Valley Rotary, Spackenkill High School Leo Club and Tabernacle Christian Academy.

Special Recognition was given to Girl Scout Troop 141 and Rev. Gretchen Reed. Life Saver Awards and Extra Mile Awards were also presented. For a full listing, please go to our website, www.dutchessoutreach.org and click on events.

To all who give so freely of their time and talents - thank you.

Executive Director

organization, counts 1,168,354 homeless students enrolled in U.S. schools in the 11-12 school year; a record number. That's an estimated increase of 72 percent since the 2008 recession.

Closer to home, Census data reveal a thirty something percent child poverty level here in Poughkeepsie and other nearby cities. A random sampling of City residents by Poughkeepsie Plenty researchers in 2012 projected one in four of all City residents struggle to meet their nutritional needs.

So it's no wonder there are more food pantries in Dutchess County than most people can ever recall. At every one it's the same situation; almost impossible to keep up. So much in fact, at Dutchess Outreach, where we've gone from 75,000 meals to 102,000 meals annually in less than 2 years, we've had to curtail our service to four days a week. We need to raise forty-five thousand more dollars, or gather that much more food this year to, hopefully, return to full time service.

This change was not an easy decision. Especially with food stamps dwindling as recovery measures come to a close. To make matters even worse, as I write, Congress is meeting to resolve their differences over whether to cut food stamps by either $400 Million or $3.9 Billion a year for the next ten years. You probably know the result by now.

The fact is, almost all who come to the pantry already receive food stamps, or what are now called SNAP benefits. Do the math and it's clear. Cuts to SNAP will increase the need for a private emergency food system already taxed to the limit and that may prove to be unsustainable.

Forty-nine million Americans, three and one-half million New Yorkers and the five thousand people served by Dutchess Outreach each year

As a community of people that care about the welfare of others, I know you'll agree the number of people struggling these days is astounding. And the numbers are staggering.

According to our recent U.S. Census, 16.1 million children live at or below our nation's ridiculously low measurement of poverty. A new report from First Focus, a bipartisan child advocacy often live without knowing where they will find their next meal. And now the plan is to cut SNAP? Is this really the time for such a SNAP decision? Follow the debate, call Congress and urge them to reconsider reducing support for those who face food shortages. Ask them to heed the call of a great Republican statesman, Abe Lincoln, who wrote in 1854 about the "legitimate object of government" in notes for an undelivered speech. Lincoln described the role of government as providing what people individually or as a group cannot provide as well, or at all, on their own.

Like what? Well, Lincoln wrote about the need to control and correct society's wrongs and secure the common good and the individual's right to education, safety, care and sustenance. "All which, in its nature, and without wrong," he noted, "requires combined action" citing, among other things, the need for charities and helping the poor.

Beyond any SNAP decisions, though, we need to take a new look at ways in which we, as a community, can reduce hunger among our neighbors. That's why Dutchess Outreach is very excited about sponsoring the Poughkeepsie Plenty Food Coalition. The PFFC is an energetic group of food and community enthusiasts, led by former Poughkeepsie Farm Project Director Susan Grove working on designing a new food system in the City of Poughkeepsie. One based on the assertion that access to good food is a human right.

When you think about what food means to each of us--our survival on this planet--it really is hard to argue. Everyone is a part of this great creation and everyone should be able to live and partake in its air and water and share in the land's bounty. We can't live without it.

Transforming a system where food is a commodity to one where it is a right will not happen overnight. Food is big business. And now the food banks are too. But from production to distribution to disposal, there's an awful lot of waste.

Right now we share that excess at the end of the cycle; just before the quality suffers, the product reaches expiration date, or spoils. This is the donated food that is distributed through regional food banks at high cost and is part of what is donated at local pantries.

People deserve better. If this food system provides enough surplus at the production end, we should be able to make changes so people nutritionally at-risk have access at the start instead. And with cost savings in handling, transporting and storing food, the enhanced access approach would likely be more cost-efficient. Among other efforts Poughkeepsie Plenty has taken on the challenge. To be sure it won't be easy or, daresay, a snap.

UPDATE 2013

In Memory

Barbara Lumb was a woman of many interests and passions, including travel, gardening, reading and cooking. Barbara's history of employment and volunteerism shows a life-long commitment to the City of Poughkeepsie and her greater community. She sat on many Boards, including Dutchess Outreach as Board Chair.

Ella Spooner was Brian's mentor when he began working at Dutchess Outreach. Because of her love of her community, she found herself involved with many local charitable organizations. Mrs. Spooner was known as the "nice lady" at Dutchess Outreach in the early 80's, who would help needy people in their most desperate times with food, furniture, clothing and rent assistance.

Both of these remarkable women will be greatly missed.

Community Support

- Cram the Classroom, the district-wide food and supply drive organized by Arlington Central School District, was a huge success. Over 8,000 items were collected and donated for the food pantry! Way to go!
- With a Kind Heart, led by Geeta Gorwara, raised $3,000 for Lunch Box evening meals.
- Aaron's, Inc. served in the Lunch Box and were a sponsor of the Seventh Annual Brunch.
- With the help of some foundations, we were able to keep our food supply stocked, have Emergency Assistance funds and receive general operation support. Thank you to some of this year's funders: BJ's Foundation, Bank of America, Dyson Foundation, United Way, Community Foundation, Key Bank, MAZON.

Social Media to the Rescue

When we first began experiencing an extraordinary increase of people needing our Beverly Closs Food Pantry services, we sent out an appeal to our Facebook followers for help. Thanks to so many dedicated and concerned community members, not only did we receive a huge increase in "followers," but also many messages asking how you can help. Many of you came through with generous food drives, creative fundraisers, food and monetary donations and some of you helped by just spreading the word. We went from 330 "likes" to 630 "likes!" If you haven't done so already, please "like" us on Facebook: www.facebook.com/Dutchess\_Outreach. Thank you.

30 Ways In 30 Days

The volunteer committee launched a calendar project this past September during Hunger Action Month, called "30 Ways in 30 Days" in effort to educate people and involve the community in new and fun ways. A few ideas included: starting a spare change jar to donate to Dutchess Outreach, living a day on a food stamp budget of $4.50 per person, and serving a meal in the Lunch Box. Chili's in Poughkeepsie and 2 Taste Food and Wine Bar in Hyde Park also participated by donating 10% of their sales to Dutchess Outreach on specific days.

From Farm to Food Pantry

Fishkill Farms, Huguenot Street Farm and Poughkeepsie Farm Project have continually, spring through fall, supplied our food pantry and Lunch Box with fresh vegetables. On a weekly basis, farm fresh vegetables from collard greens to zucchini were picked up from the farms and delivered to our food pantry by volunteers. Many veggies were received in numerous varieties, which was an educational process, as well as nutritious. Thank you, local farmers!

Welcome

After interning over the summer from Vassar College, we officially welcomed Velvet Duncan in September as a part-

From our Caseworkers' Notebooks

Many people think of the Lunch Box or Food Pantry when they hear "Dutchess Outreach," but our case managers see much more than people in need of food. Here are just two examples of the situations our case managers see every day.

Case No. 1

Joyce, a single mother of two young children and with only $200 in her bank account, owed $2,505 in back rent due to losing her job. In order to stop the eviction process, the landlord required the payment in full. A local social services agency denied her because she didn't have a steady income. Although Joyce had just accepted a new job, she was not due to start the position until two days before her eviction date. Our case manager called the agency and explained the situation, but they still refused to help her. After several more calls and speaking to a supervisor, the social services agency finally agreed to help with $2,000. With their commitment, the client's $200 and a grant from Dutchess Outreach for $305, Joyce and her family no longer faced homelessness. Although it was a lengthy process, the case manager's advocacy combined with a one-time emergency assistance grant, this single mother, her 2-month-old baby and 3-year-old daughter were saved from being out on the streets.

Case No. 2

Dutchess Outreach had received an urgent call from a mother of two small children, ages one month and six years old. The apartment they were living in was without heat due to a broken furnace for several months. To keep her and her children warm, the mother used electric heaters. Heating costs were included in her monthly rent, but not electric. Despite numerous unanswered phone complaints to the landlord, the only response she ever received was that "nothing could be done about the situation." Obviously heating an apartment with electric heaters is inefficient, unsafe and expensive. She eventually racked up a $700.00 Central Hudson bill, which she was unable to pay. The situation had reached a critical point and she feared she would be forced to enter the emergency shelter system as she and her two small children could no longer afford to stay in an apartment with no heat. They were in real danger of becoming homeless.

One of our case managers placed a call to the Health Department and spoke to the inspector about the obvious disregard of health and safety codes this landlord displayed. The health inspector informed the landlord that he had 48 hours to repair the furnace. The landlord quickly responded.

The case manager then turned her attention to the significant electric bill the client was unable to pay. She contacted Central Hudson and explained the client's plight. She advocated for a smaller balance that the client could handle and negotiated a payment agreement with Central Hudson.

Through our case management, Dutchess Outreach was able to successfully advocate and negotiate a long-term solution for this client and her family. She and her children are not homeless. They are not cold. The lights are on. And perhaps more importantly, she now knows what to do if a similar situation occurs again.

"I just wanted to thank you for your help. I realize that you went above and beyond to help me and my family and I know you didn't have to." - An Emergency Assistance Client time case manager. Frederick Oliver also joined Dutchess Outreach in September as the assistant Lunch Box manager.

Board of Directors

Five members of our board completed their service this past year. A special thank you goes to Billie Dunn, Kyro Ojulo, James Passikoff, Ann St. Germain and Kelly Traver for their past service. In addition, we have welcomed two new board members, Robin J. Kleban and Amy Woods.

Dutchess Masonic District Charity Ball

On March 22, 2013, the Dutchess Masonic District Masons held a Charity Ball at the Dutchess Manor in Beacon, NY to benefit Dutchess Outreach's programs. The event was organized by Trooper Robert Hogan and Dr. Mark Mason. Attendees were kept thoroughly entertained with a cocktail hour, dinner, dancing, contests, a magician and a silent auction. Lots of fun was had by all while also raising $1,000. Thank you!

The CrowdRise Holiday Challenge

The CrowdRise Holiday Challenge begins on November 18, 2013 and runs through January 9, 2014. The nonprofit that raises the most gets $100,000! Second place gets $40,000 and third gets $20,000. There will be another $40,000 given away in cash and prizes throughout the challenge. The Huffington

Post is also giving away lots of other prizes throughout the challenge, including media coverage.

CrowdRise is one of the fastest growing online fundraising websites, dubbed the "Facebook of philanthropy." CrowdRise is a unique blend of crowd-funding, social networking and contests, with the goal of making charitable giving fun. Setting up a page takes less than a minute.
