A Message from
Renée Fillette-Miccio, PhD
Executive Director

"I never imagined my life could be so good."

Mike, one of our guests, said those words recently, and I haven't stopped thinking about them. After 58 years of substance use, he found recovery at 73. Today, he lives in his own apartment, attends church, and volunteers. He is enjoying a life he once couldn't imagine.

When I reflect on this past year at Dutchess Outreach, I think about Mike and what becomes possible when someone is met with dignity and care.

This year, an unprecedented number of neighbors turned to us for help. Across Dutchess County, more than 32,000 people face hunger, including 7,200 children. Behind those numbers are families struggling to afford groceries and children without reliable access to nutritious food. We cannot accept hunger as inevitable in our community.

When disruptions to SNAP threatened food assistance for thousands of households, our team responded quickly. Food purveyors, emergency food providers, local leaders, and generous donors came together to ensure nutritious food reached those who needed it. Their support demonstrated what our community can accomplish through shared responsibility.

But our work must extend beyond emergencies.

Throughout the year, we invested in a stronger local food system, connecting more neighbors with nutritious food while supporting regional farmers. With support from Dutchess County and other collaborators, we increased our purchasing from local farms, recognizing that access to nutritious food and a sustainable future for our farmers go hand in hand.

We also completed our Lunch Box renovation, creating a welcoming, comfortable space where guests can share meals with dignity and a sense of belonging.

There are days when the needs feel overwhelming. Yet every day, our staff and volunteers show up with compassion and determination. I wish everyone could witness the care behind every meal, the challenges quietly resolved, and the time spent listening when someone needs more than food.

We must continue addressing immediate needs while advocating for policies that strengthen food security and ensure people directly affected by hunger help shape lasting solutions.

To our staff, volunteers, and Board of Directors, thank you for your dedication and leadership. To our donors and funders, your generosity makes this work possible.

Most of all, I'm grateful to the individuals and families who place their trust in us. Asking for help isn't always easy, and we take that trust seriously. Mike's story reminds me why that matters.

Food is a human right. Our neighbors deserve opportunities to build lives rooted in dignity, stability, and possibility.

Thank you for standing alongside our neighbors and helping build a community where everyone can thrive. There is still much to do, and I'm grateful we can continue moving forward together.

With deep gratitude,

Renée Fillette-Miccio, PhD
Executive Director

OUR PROGRAMS

NOURISHMENT. CONNECTION. BELONGING.

THE LUNCH BOX

A welcoming table has always been at the heart of The Lunch Box.

Open six days a week, neighbors come to The Lunch Box for hot, chef-prepared meals made with quality ingredients and genuine care. It's a welcoming, familiar place where relationships are built, and everyone is treated with dignity and respect—where a chef knows your name and there's a place for you at the table.

This year, we completed a renovation of The Lunch Box, creating a refreshed space that reflects the warmth, dignity, and sense of belonging that have long defined the program. In April, we celebrated the transformation with a special breakfast, welcoming donors and community members to experience the new space and the care and connection at its heart.

For some guests, a meal is what first brings them through our doors. The relationships that grow from there can become something more: connection, trust, and access to a broader community of care.

GROCERIES. CHOICE. COMMUNITY.

THE PANTRY

At The Pantry, choice matters.

Neighbors select the groceries and fresh produce that make sense for their households, their cultures, and the people they love. Our self-choice model centers dignity, respect, and personal preference—making accessing food feel like what it should be: shopping for the foods your family needs and enjoys.

This year, new high-capacity freezers expanded our ability to offer and store a greater variety of quality foods, further improving the Pantry experience. This important upgrade was made possible through a grant from Dutchess County Government—an investment in dignity, choice, and community care.

We also expanded access by offering extended Pantry hours on Farm Stand days held at the Family Partnership Center, giving neighbors greater flexibility to visit later in the day.

Mobile Pantry

Our Mobile Pantry brings fresh, nourishing food to neighbors throughout Amenia and the tri-corner region of Dutchess County. Located at Sun River Health's Amenia location and open Wednesdays, the refrigerated trailer offers produce, proteins, and shelf-stable staples. This year, the Mobile Pantry helped 800 households bring nutritious food home to their tables.

FARM STAND

Fresh produce should be within everyone's reach.

Three times each month, our free Farm Stands bring an abundance of fresh produce and pantry staples directly into the community, with locations in the Town of Poughkeepsie and at the Family Partnership Center. Like our Pantry, Farm Stands are centered on choice, giving guests the opportunity to select the foods they enjoy and that work best for their households.

This year, we moved our City of Poughkeepsie Farm Stand to the Family Partnership Center, providing more space and creating a more comfortable, accessible experience for guests. The Farm Stand also serves as a pickup hub for local community organizations, including Hope on a Mission, extending the reach of free produce to their members and communities.

Through our collaboration with the Regional Food Bank of the Hudson Valley and relationships with local farms, our Farm Stands connect more neighbors with an abundance of fresh, nourishing food. Each Farm Stand reflects our vision for food access: one rooted in choice, abundance, equity, and the strength of a connected community.

OUR VOLUNTEERS

Community care is something we build together.

Volunteers are an essential part of how care takes shape at Dutchess Outreach. Every day, they bring their time, energy, and compassion to our programs, helping create the welcoming and respectful experience every neighbor deserves.

Across Dutchess Outreach, volunteers prepare and serve meals in The Lunch Box, stock Pantry shelves, assist with Farm Stands, and lend a hand wherever it's needed. Their contributions extend far beyond completing a task. Volunteers build connections, offer a familiar face, and help bring our values of dignity, equity, and community to life each day.

This year, we strengthened our volunteer program by establishing a dedicated Volunteer Coordinator role within our existing team, bringing greater focus to scheduling and communication with the people who so generously share their time with us.

With more intentional stewardship, we're building a volunteer experience that is as meaningful for those who give their time as it is valuable to our programs. We're deeply grateful to every volunteer who chooses to show up, share their talents, and care for our neighbors. Their commitment advances our mission every day and brings the heart of Dutchess Outreach into our community.

WE LOVE LOCAL HUDSON VALLEY FARMS

The abundance of the Hudson Valley should be within everyone's reach.

Our relationships with Hudson Valley farms bring fresh, high-quality produce, protein, and products directly to the tables of neighbors while strengthening the local food system we all share. This year, thousands of pounds of locally sourced items moved through our programs, connecting the abundance of our region with families throughout our community.

Working alongside local farms keeps resources within the Hudson Valley, supports the people who grow and produce our food, and provides neighbors with greater access to fresh, nourishing options. It's a model of food access rooted in equity and community—one that recognizes that everyone deserves quality food while investing in a stronger, more connected local food system.

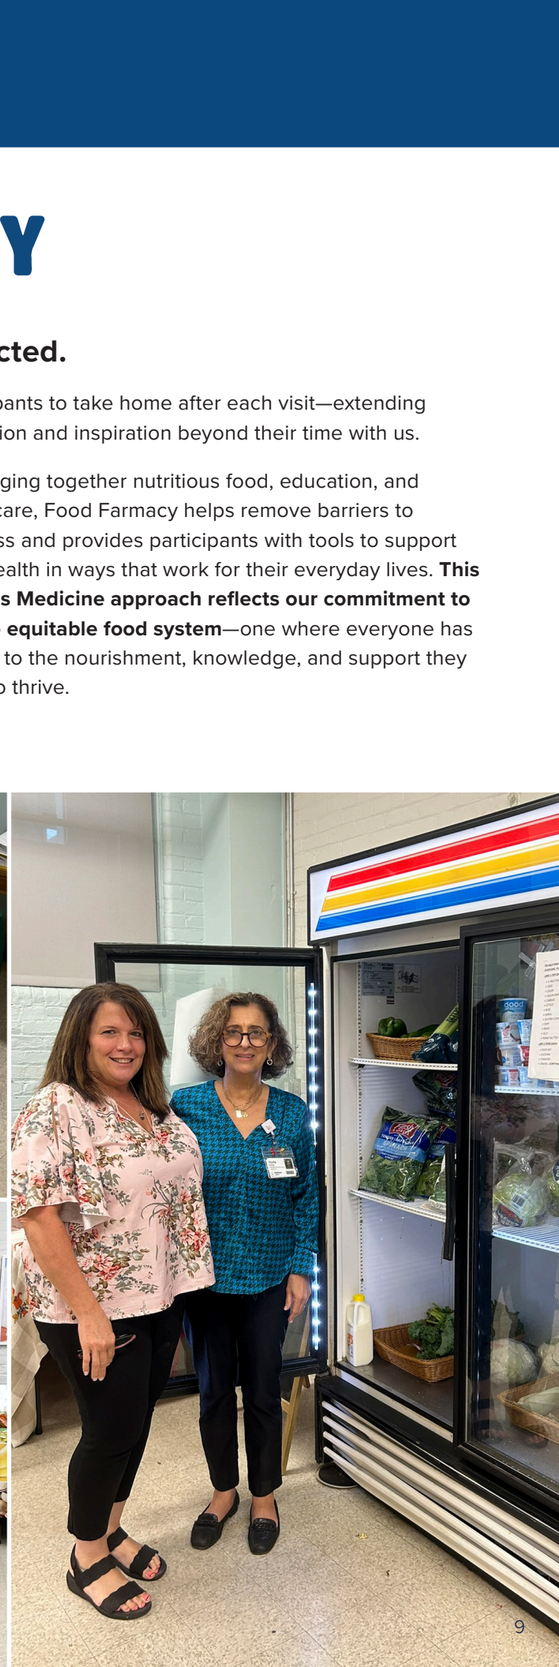
FOOD FARMACY

Food and health outcomes are deeply connected.

In collaboration with Northwell Health, our Food Farmacy provides neighbors experiencing food insecurity with consistent access to fresh, nutritious foods while supporting the management of nutrition-sensitive chronic conditions.

Participants also connect with Registered Dietitian Nutritionists who provide individualized nutrition education and guidance, helping make healthy choices practical and sustainable. This year, we expanded that support with a new Food Farmacy newsletter featuring a recipe of the month and practical nutrition tips for participants to take home after each visit—extending education and inspiration beyond their time with us.

By bringing together nutritious food, education, and healthcare, Food Farmacy helps remove barriers to wellness and provides participants with tools to support their health in ways that work for their everyday lives. This Food as Medicine approach reflects our commitment to a more equitable food system—one where everyone has access to the nourishment, knowledge, and support they need to thrive.



COLLABORATION. ACTION. ACCESS.

Meeting the Moment

In a time of uncertainty, our community responded with action.

When SNAP benefits were unexpectedly disrupted last November during the nationwide government shutdown, affecting more than 17,000 Dutchess County residents, our community mobilized.

Dutchess Outreach worked alongside city and county leaders, local farms, food purveyors, businesses, volunteers, and more than 25 food pantries through the Emergency Food Providers Coalition to rapidly expand access to food across the county. Fresh food distributions were held at the Family Partnership Center, while thousands of pounds of groceries and produce moved through our network to reach neighbors in communities throughout Dutchess County.

At the same time, our Pantry remained open and meals at The Lunch Box nearly doubled as more neighbors turned to us. What unfolded was more than an emergency response—it was a powerful example of what is possible when a community is connected, prepared, and committed to caring for one another. Together, we transformed an uncertain moment into coordinated action, ensuring neighbors had access to nourishing food with dignity and care.

A Voice for Food Equity

Providing food when our neighbors need it is essential. But creating meaningful change also means looking beyond the immediate need—strengthening the systems, relationships, and policies that shape food access in the first place.

Earlier this year, we continued to bring that perspective beyond our own doors. Our Executive Director Renee Fillette-Miccio represented Dutchess Outreach at the 2026 New York Food Summit, joining a panel focused on how local partnerships can strengthen the food security safety net.

That advocacy is also turning into tangible investment here at home. Support from state and local leaders is helping us purchase more food directly from Hudson Valley farms—keeping dollars in our regional food economy while bringing more fresh, nutritious food to our neighbors.

Collaboration has helped us tell the story of this work, too. We were delighted to work with The Art Effect to create a new video that captures the breadth of Dutchess Outreach today—our programs, our people, and our belief that addressing food insecurity requires both meeting immediate needs and working toward lasting solutions.

From advocacy to collaboration and investment, we're working toward a stronger, more connected food system where everyone has access to the food they need to thrive.

TRUST. COMPASSION. SHARED MEALS.

A Community of Care

Generosity takes many forms in our community.

Our community gives in countless ways, turning generosity into meaningful action for neighbors across Dutchess County. Throughout the year, schools, businesses, religious institutions, community groups, and individuals organize food drives, donate fresh and shelf-stable food, provide meals, and find creative ways to support our Pantry and Lunch Box.

This year, Dutchess Outreach received donated food and products valued at $469,658—an extraordinary investment from a community that believes everyone should have access to nourishing food.

Our food rescue program is another important part of that shared effort where we work with local supermarkets and retailers to recover quality food that might otherwise go to waste, redirecting 216,287 pounds this year to our Pantry and Mobile Pantry.

Every donated item, shared meal, organized food drive, and rescued item becomes part of something larger: a community sharing what it has and helping ensure care reaches more neighbors.

Susan DeKeukelaere Memorial Coat Drive

Warmth should be within everyone's reach.

Each year, the Susan DeKeukelaere Memorial Coat Drive connects neighbors with thousands of free coats, hats, and other winter essentials, made possible through the generosity of our community and supporters including iHeartMedia and The Dyson Foundation. In recent years, approximately 6,000–7,000 winter items have been collected and distributed annually.

Acts of Kindness

Everyday essentials make a meaningful difference.

Through Acts of Kindness (AoK), we work with local human services agencies, organizations, and our community to connect neighbors with essential household items they may otherwise have difficulty accessing. From items that help make a new space feel like home to everyday necessities, AoK helps meet practical needs with dignity and care. This year, Acts of Kindness reached 623 people through collaboration with 28 local agencies, extending a network of community care throughout Dutchess County.

Emergency Assistance

Practical support within reach can create a path toward greater stability

Our Emergency Assistance Program helps neighbors navigate urgent needs while building a path toward greater stability. With guidance from Tara Whalen, Assistant Executive Director, Community Care guests can access support for essential needs including medication, housing, utilities, and other unexpected expenses.

Each interaction begins with listening—understanding what someone needs and connecting them with resources that can make a meaningful difference.

When Care Comes Full Circle

When a local family lost their home in a devastating house fire, the loss was immediate and overwhelming. In a matter of hours, everyday essentials, familiar belongings, and the comfort of home were suddenly gone.

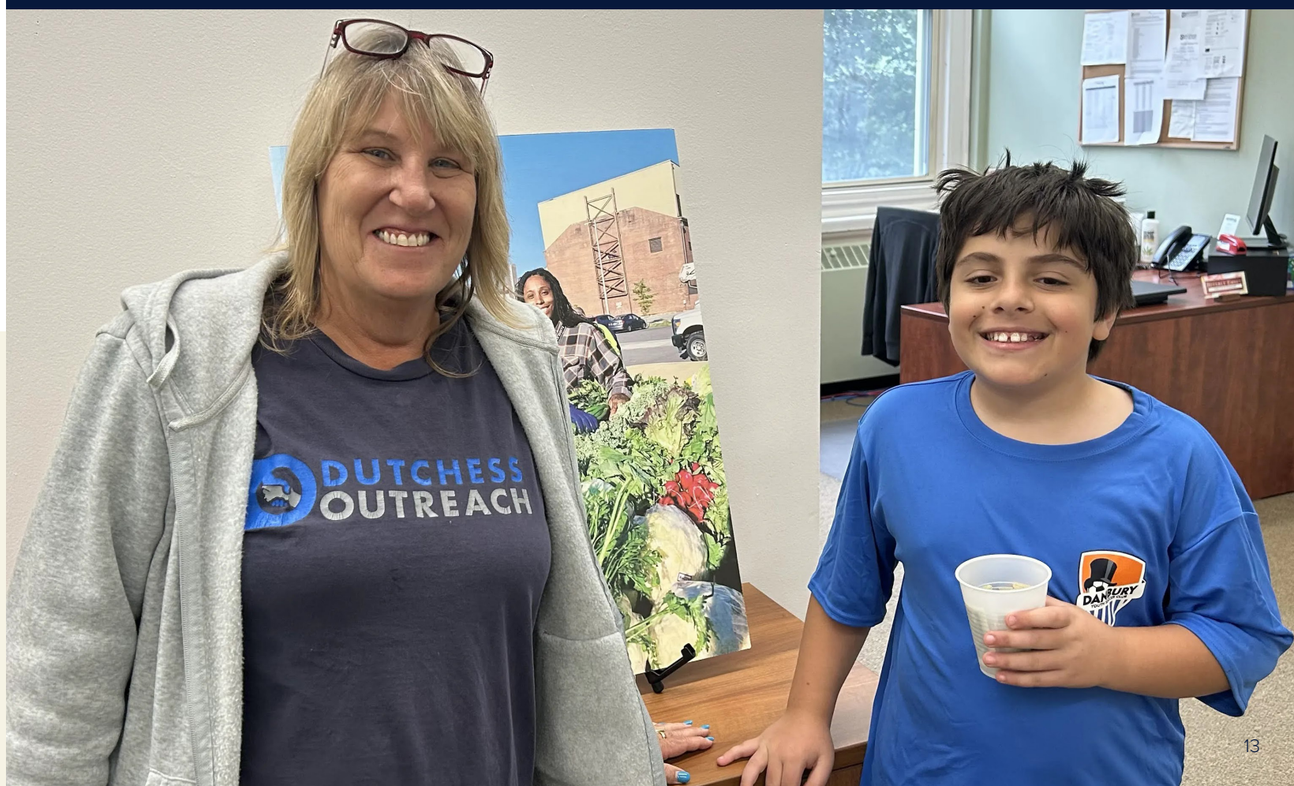
As the family began navigating what came next, Dutchess Outreach was able to help through our Acts of Kindness program. With the support of our community, we provided household essentials and other necessities to help them settle into temporary housing and begin rebuilding some sense of stability during an incredibly difficult time.

But their connection to Dutchess Outreach didn't end there.

As the family began to move forward, they found meaningful ways to give back. The father now volunteers regularly in our Food Pantry, offering his time and energy to help other neighbors who walk through our doors. His son, Moses, was inspired to do something of his own, organizing a small fundraiser and collecting donations to support Dutchess Outreach.

Their story is a beautiful example of what community can look like: neighbors caring for neighbors, each of us giving what we can when we can. Sometimes that means receiving support in a moment of crisis. Other times, it means offering your time, resources, or kindness to someone else.

Your generosity helps make that circle of care possible.
Every gift helps build a community where neighbors know they can count on one another.



Roots of Resilience Gala

This past May, more than 400 guests came together at The Grandview for our Roots of Resilience Gala—an evening centered on community, connection, and a shared commitment to caring for our neighbors. Together, we celebrated the people and organizations whose leadership, generosity, and service strengthen Dutchess County, while honoring County Executive Sue Serino, volunteer Dave Lowe, Freedom Plains United Presbyterian Church, Hudson Valley Fresh, and Steph Wiley, Co-Founder of Brooklyn Packers and NY Foodways Gathering.

More than a celebration, the evening reflected what's possible when a community shows up for one another with care and intention—and the collective commitment that keeps our work moving forward.

With Deep Gratitude

To every donor whose name appears on these pages, thank you for choosing to stand with Dutchess Outreach and our neighbors. Your generosity strengthens this work in countless ways, and we're deeply grateful to have you as part of the community that makes it possible.

DUTCHESS OUTREACH

A Place to Begin Again

When Maria arrived in Poughkeepsie, she was starting over and facing an uncertain road ahead.

She first came to Dutchess Outreach for help meeting immediate needs. But what she found here became something more: people who listened, a place she knew she could return to, and a community that stood beside her as she worked toward greater stability for herself and her family.

Today, Maria has stable housing and is raising her young daughter. She still walks through our doors—not only when she needs something, but to visit, say hello, and check in with the people who have become part of her life.

"This place didn't just help me survive, it helped me belong," Maria shared. "Without Dutchess Outreach, I honestly don't think I would have made it."

That sense of belonging is at the heart of Dutchess Outreach. We meet people where they are, with dignity and care, knowing that an immediate need may be only one part of their story.

Your support helps keep our doors open for the next neighbor who walks in— so they can find nourishing food, compassionate care, meaningful connection.
